planeb and bandsome. These brick can be laid sarsight, and plumb, and who questions their beauty?

Buildings from such brick will cost money, but, with the little $125 pross slluded to, brick can be made even now so as to make buildings cost less than if made of the most common clay-burnt brick in any locality, when the chances for material are equal. And if the machinery for the manufacture of these brick has been so perfected as to make them supersed other brick at this early period since the invention, what may we expect when I have floished my plan, already commenced upon, of making with one horse and eighteen men as many bricks as twelve were can take from the machine?

When the fact is more generally known, that in every 105 pounds of limestons, there are 44 pounds of carbonic acid, and that the process of burning this time causes this oarbon to pass oil, and fits it for hydration (alsoking.) and when it is known that this remaining 56 pounds of sulphate of lime, when hydrated and mixed with sand or gravel, according to the quantity of each, has an afficity for carbon, and that one part in every hundred of the atmosphere is carbonic acid, and the work of the continually blockeded by wegone and when subject to frost before becoming thoroughly dry, or if made with old lime, can never become very hard, while those made in three days part of the season, and through the summer, though tender, will do to be laid in three days and supply the folial of the laid in three days and though the summer, though tender, will do to be laid in three days and through the summer, though tender, will do to be laid in three days anything of the kind in the previous list. a Young Men's biterary Association, and a Rap-tiat College is now being erected, which is named in honor of President Wayland. Our penters are receiving one dollar and a half per diem wages, with a surplus of employment. Mason's wages range from two dollars and a half per diem. We have received an interesting communicaon from Mr. J. MARSHALL of Fond du Lac, or the subject of these brick, for the whole of which e would gladly find room it it were possible; but in the crowded state of our columns we can only extract such portions as are most valuable to the public.

Mr. Marsuacz thinks that the doubts express ed, as of "intelligent persons," by the Watertown Times are but the usual mode of decrying new inventions by those who do not understand the subject; and thinks that the introduction of the brick will be much delayed by the prevalence of the idea that a "thin crust" only is produced for Cons non Council on this important Times are but the usual mode of decrying new the time was not taken till late at inventions by those who do not understand the the characteristic The proposition the idea that a "thin crust" only is produced for a long time; whereas Mr. M's. experience shows bim that the late period of the manufacture of the specimens referred to, the frests coming on to take having's contract—the before the chemical process had time to take dge and materials of the latter, and place, accounts for the thinness of the crust. The Shakspere Club Duel-Latest Par-Dispatches were yesterday received from Dr. Chetwood, who is at Nisgura in attendance on Mr. F. Lesvenworth, the principal victim of last Wednieday's duol. His condition is represented as much more comfortable and encouraging than as much more comfortable and encouraging than the Doctor expected previous to seeing him. No effect has yet been made to extract the bullet from his left thigh. It is ascertained, however, that the ball has not pometrated the bone, but lies upon it. The bone, however, is fractured midway between the hip and knos joint, and it is thought doubtful whether it can be set, while the constant danger of mortification renders the situation of the petions most critical.

The wound in the right leg is also very serious, the ball in traversing the limb having peased within a hair's breadth of the femoral artery, which is liable to be ruptured should there be any stoughing of the wound. We do not hear that amputation of the broken leg is contemplated, but should it be possible to save that leg it will

BRAVER DAM, WESCONEIN, May 29, 1855.

A little over two years ago, I passed through the village of Beaver Dam, or my way to Portage City to complete the preliminary survey of the La Crosse and Milwankon Railroad. The village then contained about eight hundred inhabitants; now it boasts a population of twenty five hundred, and every day extends its limits, and adds to its resources. Beaver Dam is situated in the County of Dodge, on the line of the La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad, and seventy miles west and north of Milwaukee. It has a water-power of 21 feet fall directly in the village, which increases to fifty feet three and one half miles south. Two large grist-mile and one cloth-factory are running hight and day, and there is pawer onough to spare to drive a foundary for the manufacture of farming implements. The Wisconsin Central Railroad, from Chicago to Stevens' Point, will pass through the village, giving it a direct communication with Obleago, as the La Crosse and Milwaukee. The work on the Central toad is to be commonced immediately, and the La Crosse and Milwaukee.

The work on the Central toad is to be commonced immediately, and the La Crosse road is expected to be finished to Beaver Dam by the latter part of the cusning Fall. The village is doing a thriving business, its principal thoroughfare being continually blockaded by wegons and teams. It contains a Baok with a capital of fifty thousand doltars, an Acadomy four Churcles, a Young Men's Literary Association, and a Baptiat College is now being created, which is named in honor of President Wayland. Carpenters are receiving one dollar and a half per diem. The emigration to Wiscousin this Spring airrepasses anything of the kind in the previous history of the State, and another year of good crops will make it the Empire State of the West.—Outrages in Clay County, Undana.
